Third periodic monitoring questionnaire

January – June 2021

Summary

September 2021

Introduction:

According to the monitoring and evaluation plan, a periodic questionnaire is submitted to any of the partners, one for each partner to be filled in with the collective opinion of the partner about project state of the art and activities.

The questionnaire is prepared with Google form. A quantitative and qualitative analysis is carried out on the monitoring questionnaire and joined with other info collected during the project development from the coordinator or during the meetings.

The periodic questionnaire enquiries the involvement of the partner and development of the actual stage of the project, the communication between partners, the management and coordination, the satisfaction about the meetings, strengths and weaknesses of the project and the overall satisfaction. The questionnaire is updated to the activities of the period and to specific matters that may occur.
The questionnaire refers to the project period from January to June 2021. It was sent the 5th of August, with a 20 days delay. The answers are few: just the partners (Spain, Slovenia and Turkey). The summertime could contribute to the defection, but it is also a crisis indicator for the project.

The Covid pandemic had a great impact on the project development. The main impact that occurred was the inability to carry out face-to-face activities. However, one respondent emphasizes that the implementation and development of the project was very well modified and useful. Additional Comments:

- We will need to work more on this, finding a way how to do it since the majority of the activities so far were producing written material.
- I assume the dissemination activities will be more effective after the training period.

Intellectual output

During the reporting period, the three respondents say they carried out the following activities with regard to IO2 TRAINING MODULES of street track and field for educators and coaches, mainly with the development of the training module and of their content together with other partners.

Regarding the problems encountered while conducting this activity, one partner reports that these mostly refer to the difficulty of communicating only through online channels, however the two respondents point out how they overcame these problems, in fact, one states that the project's external partners helped gather the material for the content, and the other states that he requested written checklists and he contacted those responsible in person to do the right tasks.
Additional Comments:

- We are a bit late and maybe summer was the best time to have the training because in other seasons there were lock downs and it is possible to have them again and it will be very difficult to have a training with everybody in a room which I prefer to online training

• Very good partnership, excellent coordinators which lead to the effective implementation of the project goals. • The partners of the project are experienced and they know how to continue even in a situation like the pandemic.	• The expectations for the IO2 TRAINING MODULES of every partner should have been more clear and that would be better to discuss this subject deeply in person.

Conclusion:

The third monitoring questionnaire had a low turnout. The period of the sanitary emergency represented an obstacle for some activities foreseen by the project such as the impossibility to reach the target group and the impossibility to carry out face-to-face activities. It is possible that also the turnout to the questionnaire can be included among the problems that the pandemic has determined on the whole project. It is anyway a sing of temporary crisis in the partnership.

However, although few in number, those who took part in the questionnaire foresee a good continuation of the project. The associations worked actively to manage and plan the expected activities for the subsequent phases.

Satisfactions with the partnership, the work of the coordinator, and the dissemination activity were rated positively by respondents.

The implementation phase of the IO2 TRAINING MODULES has moved forward and the respondents who took part to the questionnaire appear to have actively contributed.
